War Veterans Pack Grounds

Swelled by an estimated 25,000 veterans who were honored guests for the day, attendance at the Edmonton summer fair soared to an all-time record of 49,446. From the time Tuesday gates swung open in the morning until late in the evening, the turnstiles were humming as continuous streams of pleasure-seekers poured into the grounds to jam the midway, grandstand and buildings.

For many of the veterans, it was the first time in seven years they had trod the tanbark of the midway or jostled with crowds at the races and grandstand show.

For a time in the late afternoon it looked as if a thunder shower might put a damper on the merry proceedings but the threatening clouds rolled by without letting go so much as a drop on the crowded fair grounds.

Pari-mutuel play was heavy for a Tuesday, rolling up a total of $92,184, compared to $68,908 on the same day last year. The all-time record is $113,954 on Wednesday of last year.

War veterans and their families were admitted to the grounds free and later were treated to a special performance of the musical "The Great Waltz" at the grandstand show. There they filled the stands overlooking the large enclosure and spilled out onto the race track. Estimates of the grandstand attendance placed it at between 15,000 and 20,000.

With the record crowd the exhibition seemed to be getting into a stride for a summer swell if the weather behaves. Citizens' Day Wednesday is expected to draw many city workers and business people, and with Farmers' Day Thursday and Children's Day Friday the prospects for huge crowds right up to finishing night would appear to be assured.

Grandstand Packed. Sight of the day Tuesday was the special grandstand show for the veterans which drew the returned men and their families into a crowded stand at the grandstand. The veteran artists especially for the veterans lasted until nearly 9:00 p.m. and show the stand was crowded immediately for the regular evening crowd.

So great was the crowd that extra precautions had to be taken by Director Sidney Parsons, Veterans' Day manager. Attendance, however, repeated instructions to remain on the sidelines and to guide the stream of spectators onto the infield. They left the race grounds by the wide gates on the north side. In this manner, the crowd was moved from the grounds in about 15 minutes.

When the gates for the next performance were opened, the men and officials were doubtful that another capacity crowd would appear. It's nice to be fooled that way, though, and in another 15 minutes about 10,000 more spectators were ready for the second grandstand show.

Midway Crowded. In the meantime, the gala, multi-colored midway drew the millions of thousands like a magnet. All through the evening, the midway was the scene of a real display, searchlights visible for many miles, swept the skies above the grounds. Batteries of smaller beams spotlighted every attraction.

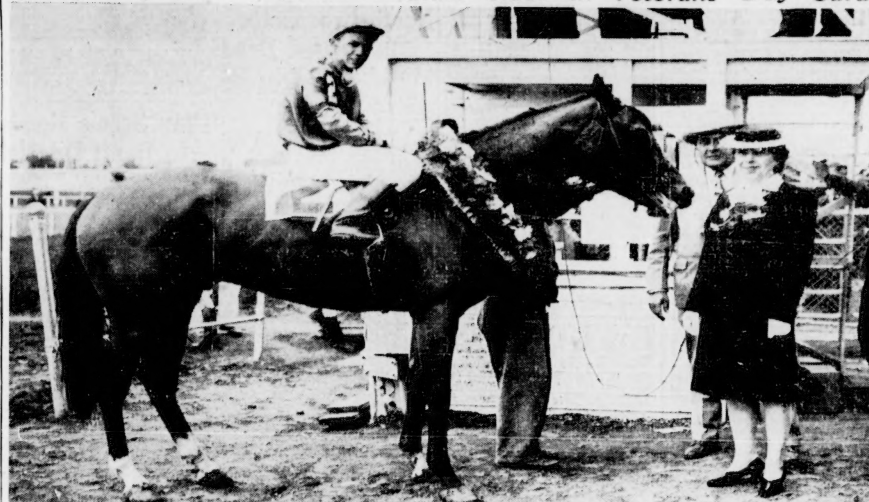

All the other attractions on the grounds drew admiring thousands. The judging of the prize livestock proved a favorite centre for families. The best of the show in the Manufacturers' building were viewed by most of the visitors and their appreciative, corroborated advance reports of the display.

Auxiliary services were in demand. St. John Ambulance reported a busy day with a number of fainting, cuts, bruises and other minor injuries.

One mishap of the day occurred at 5:15 p.m. when two girls in the grandstand were thrown to the ground and slightly injured. The accident happened when a bar on the side broke and the girls, who were sitting in the grandstand, were thrown to the ground.

Anne Doloney, 14, 101 st., suffering from concussion, and Dorothy Wharton, 12, 101 st., with facial cuts and abrasions, were taken to the Royal Alexandra hospital by Jack Ray, ambulance driver.

Speedy Bay Colt Captures Feature Race in Veterans' Day Card

7-Day Meat Buyers' Strike Called to Start on Wednesday

Detroit, (AP)—The C.I.O. United Auto Workers projected a meat buyers' strike to which they invited the participation of all United States consumers.

Fighting the climb in living costs, the big labor union which helped to set up the country's post-war wage structure sought to mobilize the public against "exorbitant" meat prices.

The U.A.W.-C.I.O., calling for co-operation from its own 800,000 members and all other organized labor and consumer groups, ordered its strike to start Wednesday. It is to last seven days.

Worker demonstrations in several cities Tuesday signaled the start of the U.A.W.-C.I.O.'s nationwide "anti-inflation" campaign. Rival A.F.L. unions joined hands with the C.I.O.'s auto union in several instances.

U.A.W. President Walter P. Reuther, addressing a police-estimated crowd of 40,000 to 50,000 in Detroit, called for the meat buyers' strike in order to restore "reasonable prices" and to "sterilize profiteers."

Reuther said meat was only the union's first target. Rent, and other items would follow unless prices were brought down by act of congress. Otherwise, he charged, the U.A.W.-sponsored rallies took place in Cleveland, Chicago and other cities in the union's "Save the O.P.A." drive. Congress was urged to restore price control and to "most urgent necessities."

In Detroit an estimated 20,000 to 30,000 Chrysler workers left their jobs temporarily, cutting production. There were no reports to indicate widespread disruption of work, however.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Top C.I.O. policy makers assembled Wednesday to map wage strategy in the light of either relaxed price controls or no future ceiling.

Leaders of the C.I.O. said they are convinced the Office of Price Administration "has won it" as we knew it is dead and that workers now must plan on the basis of the "new" alternatives.

C.I.O. President Philip Murray told reporters his meeting of vice-presidents Wednesday and of the C.I.O. board Thursday. He said Friday will adopt a wage-price program for the "guidance of our international union."

On the basis of C.I.O. pronouncements during the last two weeks the unions appeared likely to produce a two-fold declaration:

1. For concerted action to combat price rises by means of mass demonstrations and buyers' strikes.

2. A determination to match living cost increases with pay boosts.

C.I.O. leaders said no attempt would be made to decide on a dollars-and-cents wage goal because of uncertainty over new price rises. But they asserted an understanding would be reached during the four-day leadership course of action as current wage contracts expire.

C.I.O. spokesmen say new wage demands can be served soon on such industries as meat packing, automobile (Chrysler) and maritime (longshoremen), in a move to "stabilize" the cost of living. A post-O.P.A. wage pattern.

50,000 in Belgrade Riot Over Trieste

BELGRADE, (AP)—A crowd of approximately 50,000 persons, chanting the names of Premier Marjano Tito and Prime Minister Stalin, protested Tuesday night against the decision of the four-power foreign ministers to internationalize Trieste.

Members of all Yugoslav labor unions and other groups marched to the heart of Belgrade. They carried banners which read: "We ask for a revision of the Paris decision on Trieste." Trieste to Yugoslavia is a just demand, they said. "Yugoslavia as an ally demands justice from the Allies."

MORE SUGAR IN BRITAIN. LONDON, (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey said Tuesday a 25 percent cut in British sugar rationing effectively means "Yugoslavia" will be restored Aug. 18.

Russians Unable Find U.S. Officers

FRANKFURT, (AP)—Russian authorities have told the United States Army that two U.S. officers "have been unable to locate the Russian zone of Berlin recently cannot be located, it was announced Wednesday.

The missing men are Capt. Harold Cobin of New York City and New York, N.J., and Lieut. George Wyatt of Oklahoma City. They were last seen July 4 boarding a train for Oranienburg, a Russian provisional headquarters 20 miles north of Berlin.

An army public relations officer said the Russians had asserted they "have been unable to locate Cobin and Wyatt and that to the best of their knowledge they are not being held in the Russian zone."

Ask Montrealers Make Own Flags

MONTREAL, (CP)—The Montreal flag league announced Wednesday the launching of a campaign against the parliamentary flag committee's recommendation of a modified Red Ensign as Canada's new flag, and asked Montreal families to make their own flags from the red and white triangle design sponsored by the league.

Organize House Committee Work for Industrial Peace

By H. R. Hardy. OTTAWA, (AP)—New parliamentary committee on industrial relations decided at a special meeting Tuesday to attempt to find an immediate solution to the steel strike and to formulate, if possible, a policy leading to an improved system of industrial relations.

The committee, set up on the suggestion of A. L. Smith, (Prog. Cons., Calgary) will be under the chairmanship of Ralph Maybank, (Lib., Winnipeg South Centre), and will summon witnesses and experts to hear them out.

The committee will have no authority to take action to end strikes, its recommendations should be valuable in directing government policy. Pressure of public opinion might help to point the way to a solution.

It was decided the committee would turn its attention now toward the steel strike but also would deal with other strikes in the country and with threatened disputes.

Labor Minister Mitchell told the committee it was his desire leaders of unions which had not gone on strike should be allowed a hearing. "These people who have obeyed the law should be heard," he declared.

Prime Minister King, supporting Mr. Mitchell's suggestion for establishment of the group, said he wanted the committee to have full powers of investigation.

Alberta members on the committee include John Blackmore, (R.C. Letbridge); J. M. Dechene, (Lib., Athabasca); E. Johnston, (S.C., Bow River) and Mr. Smith.

Charge Offensive China Communists

NANKING, (AP)—The Chinese government intended to send an offensive against the Yangtze river and were attacking only 20 miles from Nanking and 45 miles from Shanghai.

The government carried a protest to Gen. Marshall asserting the Communists intended to sweep up key cities and ports along the 173 miles of the mighty river between this capital and Shanghai.

The Communists in turn complained to the special United States envoy late Tuesday, charging the government was provoking the China fighting and that the situation was "heading directly into a full-scale civil war."

See Big Crowd For Wednesday

Edmonton Exhibition officials, flushed over the success of Veterans' Day Tuesday, are expecting a big crowd for Wednesday.

On another record-breaking Wednesday, Citizens' Day, as thousands of persons flocked to the grounds to see the parade and the fair.

A half-holiday in most business places in the city was expected. Wednesday always has seen large crowds drawn to the attractions at the fair grounds.

But fair officials were keeping an eye on that weather man. Thursday is Farmers' Day and livestock before the grandstand at 10:00 a.m. and all children will be admitted free. After the show there will be a drawing of prizes for lucky ticket holders.

FACE KIDNAP CHARGES

OTTAWA, (CP)—Two Ottawa men already facing charges of armed robbery in connection with the incident in which Don Laprade was "taken for a ride" in his own taxi, will appear later on kidnappings charges connected with the affair, police said. The two are Henry Corbett, 25, and Nicholas Minnie, 24.

5 Men Treated in Hospital After Clash at Steel Plant

HAMILTON, (CP)—Five pickets of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) Wednesday were hospitalized and several workers at the Steel Company of Canada's Hamilton works sustained cuts and bruises as a result of a pre-dawn clash between pickets and workers near the main gates of the plant.

There were conflicting statements from the union and the company on the outbreaks. First violence in the basic steel strike since the day called Monday in the Steelco plant and a 40-hour work stoppage at the Steel Corporation at Sault Ste. Marie and the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation in Sydney, N.S.

The union said the trouble was started by 300 company men, armed with pick handles and lengths of new rubber hose, attacking union pickets and throwing brick, slag and beer bottles at the pickets.

The company said its men were attacked by pickets when attempting to remove ties which had been chained to the railway tracks on a line entering the company property. It said the pickets attacked with blisles and rocks.

Union men on the picket line said the trouble started when an attempt was made to move two refrigerators from the plant. The company says more than 2,000 of its 4,800-man working force are on the picket line.

Steelco is the only one of the three basic steel plants attempting to operate in spite of the union strike for a $3.60 minimum weekly wage and a 40-hour week. The company has been closed since Monday except for maintenance work. At Niagara, limited production has continued in the coke ovens to maintain a supply of gas for domestic use in the city.

South Africa Trying Prevent Inflation. JOHANNESBURG, (CP)—South Africa is watching the inflation situation brought about by rising prices in the United States and the recent upward revaluation of the Canadian currency to par with the American dollar.

The union fears it will be impossible for the South African government to prevent inflation here. Because prices have risen 16 percent since the end of 1945, the United States during the two weeks since price control lapsed, some South African business men are trying to cancel existing orders with American manufacturers, made on the basis of the price ruling at the date of delivery and not at a fixed price.

Police Attacked By German Mob. ESSEN, Germany, (CP)—An unruly Dortmund crowd attacked German police Tuesday, freeing a prisoner accused of black market trading. Eyewitnesses said the rest increased elsewhere in the industrial Ruhr.

British officials are aware the population of this coal mining-industrial area is growing faster than the months ago without an increase in food rations.

Miners get heavy-worker rations of 3,000 calories. The food ration for the general population is 2,000 calories. Members get only 1,500 and claim the ration is inadequate because of the scarcity of potatoes and cereals.

Ross Munro, Canadian Press writer, reported the food ration in the British zone was eating considerably.

Russians Obtained Papers From Dead

OTTAWA, (CP)—With the case of the false passport the royal commission on espionage Tuesday disclosed a story that would do justice to any spy thriller and described conditions which led to a recommendation for overhauling the Canadian passport procedure.

The report disclosed that in the Spanish civil war passports were taken from dead Canadian and American volunteers and stolen from others for relay to Moscow. They then were used by agents of the Russian secret police to place high value on such documents.

The false passport story—which took up 22 pages of the commission's report—dealt with the passport of a Windsor farm laborer, Ignacy Witkack who enlisted in the international brigade during the Spanish war. It was reported that other passports as well as birth and naturalization certificates had been obtained illicitly.

Obtained Papers

In 1937 Witkack had come to Canada from Denmark, obtained a passport and went to Spain to help the Spanish government in the civil war. Before he reached the battle-front an officer relieved him of his passport, with the explanation that such documents might be destroyed in action.

His passport found its way to Moscow and then to the Soviet embassy in Ottawa where the spy ring decided to use it as the basis for documents to provide identification for a highly important agent in the United States.

The disappearance of the four men was followed by a lengthy search before they were discovered in the hands of the Russians. The American command registered a formal protest.

The agent used the name Ignacy Witkack when he entered United States at New York in 1938 and told Canadian authorities he was a Canadian. One complication as far as the passport—which he had not used then—was that he had a wife, Bunia Witkack while the real passport holder was and still is a single man.

The problem the spies faced was how to get a new passport issued. Col. Milstein, assistant chief of the Red Army Intelligence, on a visit to Canada held a secret meeting with Sam Carr, former organizer for the Labor Progressive party, about it on Dominion Square outside the Windsor Hotel in Montreal.

Wanted $5,000

Carr said he wanted $5,000 to obtain the new passport. Col. Zabolotin, head of the spy ring in Canada, thought such an amount was a mere nothing under the circumstances but Carr brought the price down to $3,000 and arrangements proceeded. Dr. John Soboloff, Carr's doctor in Toronto, signed a voucher as a favor saying he knew the Witkacks.

Finally the scheme reached the official Canadian passport office. The commission said its evidence showed there was a shuffling of files and when an application came in—presumably from Witkack but actually from the Soviet agents—for a new passport the record pulled out of the old files showed he had a wife.

The commission finished the tale of the false passport with quotations from a book, entitled "In the Service of the Soviet Union," written by W. G. Krivitsky, former chief of the Soviet military intelligence in Western Europe. Krivitsky told of the value placed on Canadian passports, the methods used to obtain passports of volunteers in the Spanish war and the schemes for producing passports.

"This technique has been extended into Canada and has reared its head in the Canadian passport office in Ottawa," the commission commented.

LOS ANGELES, (CP)—The Los Angeles Times yesterday quoted that Ignacy Samuel Witkack, whose name was linked in Canada to purported Russian espionage operations, received a degree with honors from the University of Southern California in 1942 and disappeared mysteriously last November after government agents began an investigation of him.

The Times said it learned that Witkack, who enrolled at the University in 1938, was an earnest, bespectacled scholar of 35 with a penchant for the social sciences. The newspaper said his wife, Bunia, and their two-year-old son, Dickie, also disappeared mysteriously last March.

Officials in the FBI here declined to discuss the case.

Gala Midway Dwarfs Those Seen Here in Wartime Years

Visitors to the exhibition this year are finding the midway a thrilling and pleasant change to the restricted fun centres operated during wartime.

In an area more than double the size of that used last year, the Royal American Shows from Tampa, Florida, have laid out a new and old fair orite rides and side-shows.

The shiny, extravagant rides probably supply the most thrills per minute. Lured over by four brightly lit, colorful, and fast-moving jam-packed with stomach-twisters such as dipping planes, the caterpillar, the octopus, loop-the-loop, scooters and The Rocket.

The children, many of them seeing a midway of this size for the first time in their lives, are far from forgotten.

Three Merry-Go-Rounds

Not one merry-go-round, but three, are on the midway and side rides are all shined up and ready to go. Way off in one corner is a merry-go-round which is being along with a string of cars. There's even a baby ferris wheel.

Live music comes from 30-foot speakers located in the South Pacific room to small theatres and other wild life are there for inspection.

Adults in the mood for a ride have their choice of an array guaranteed to raise the loudest shrieks for years.

Mr. Mitchell already had received $12,977 for stock on hand at the plant at the time of seizure. The factory was seized by the Saskatchewan government after Mr. Mitchell's alleged failure to comply with an order of the provincial labor relations board to conclude a collective bargaining agreement with his employees.

Costa Rica has its first plant for quick-freezing tropical fruits, such as pineapples, papayas and mangoes, for shipment to the United States.

Musical Show

Headed by the travaganza, "Harem in Havana" a singing, dancing and orchestral show featuring some of the best musicians in the business. Entertainment flow looks good for anybody's money. Another leading exhibit is a war show headlining the story of the atom attack on Japan and displaying many authentic war souvenirs and mementos.

The "Wall of Death," the motorcycle show that has been a "must" for visitors for years, is there with champion riders that win rounds of applause after every ride.

A distinctive feature of the whole show this year is the newness and excellence of the auxiliary equipment. Wagons, stands and working equipment is in fine shape. Huge diesel power plants, a far cry from the spitting power machines of the past, give one a feeling of security in the startling ride. "Tail Loop-the-Loop," shows huge searchlights turn darkness into day.

Allied Relations Good in Germany

By Hal Roofs

BERLIN, (AP)—The Irish combat-soldier who bosses the United States garrison in this show window of Allied occupation considers relations between the four powers in Berlin "very satisfactory."

Maj.-Gen. Frank A. Keating also reports the army's "split and polish" campaign has sharpened up occupation troops, but that results would be even better if the soldiers were more mature.

Gen. Keating, who rose from the ranks, came to his present administrative post after winning a name for himself as an expert on amphibious warfare.

"Contrary to the general belief," he said, "the relations between the four powers in Berlin are very satisfactory. A friendly spirit prevails at all meetings, notwithstanding that we very frequently do not see eye to eye on all issues."

Gen. Keating said there was no question but that the army's tighter discipline is producing results.

"The veneer rate in Berlin is gradually dropping, and at the present time is below the theatre average level. Our misdeemeanor and felony rate has dropped to a very low ebb."

"Tainted cases, however, are still reported. It is hard for me to understand why any soldier without provocation will assault a civilian, but they do."

"I am of the opinion that misconduct along this line has caused certain retaliatory measures to be taken by the Germans."

Discussions Resumed For Egypt Alliance

CAIRO, (AP)—Prime Minister Ismail Sidki Pasha told the chamber of deputies Tuesday negotiations for a new Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance had been resumed after Britain agreed to give up a proposal for a military agreement between the two countries.

The prime minister explained that Egypt's independence would not be touched under a newly proposed Anglo-Egyptian agreement calling for a joint defence committee of military authorities and civilian representatives.

North Prospector Is Feared Dead

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported Tuesday that Ernest Savard, 41, a veteran prospector, has been given up as dead.

They said Savard, known in Ontario and British Columbia camps, scoured their suggestions last year that he should not travel to the isolated Nahanni river country to look for a gold mine.

Savard was last reported seen at Christmas time when he returned to a trading post at the mouth of the south Nahanni river and bought supplies.

It was believed Savard was looking for a lost gold mine in the upper Nahanni country, about 300 miles west of Yellowknife, N.W.T.

R.C.M.P. records show that 12 persons have lost their lives since 1904 attempting to find what is said to be a rich gold-bearing ore in the area. In the past speculation has connected these deaths with rumors of a tropical valley in the upper Nahanni country.

Plan Scenic Roads In Banff District

CALGARY, (CP)—Preliminary surveys for new scenic highway routes south and west of Banff are being carried out this summer. P. J. Jennings, superintendent of the Banff national park, said here.

It is possible a new all-weather route will run south up the Spray Valley and circle back by the Sunshine ski camp, down the Sun Dance canyon road and back past the cave and basin. There is a possibility a road will be built across the Great Divide into B.C. in the Mount Asiniboine district and cross over to the Windermere road near Radium. A road to Banff from the Windermere road down the Healy creek valley also was to be surveyed.

Recreation will be sent east for consideration and it is unlikely actual work on selected routes will begin for some time, Mr. Jennings said.

Doubt Argentina Is Seeking Arms

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States state department said Tuesday it had no information to indicate Argentina is seeking to obtain captured German war materials and armaments from Russia.

Lincoln White, state department press officer, referred to published reports of such Argentine-Russian negotiations, and told reporters: "We do not have any information on it and we assume of course that if there was anything to it we would have heard of it."

Other diplomatic sources questioned whether Argentina would negotiate for obsolete German arms when it was possible to obtain more modern equipment from Britain or the United States.

Protests Broadcast As "Misleading"

HAMILTON, (CP)—Eamon Park publicity director here of the United States Workers of America (C.I.O.), Tuesday released a telegram protesting to A. Davidson Dunt, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, concerning a report of the Hamilton strike heard on the air Monday night.

The telegram said the report, carried on a CBC program following the national news from a local station, was "completely misleading."

It is possible a new all-weather route will run south up the Spray Valley and circle back by the Sunshine ski camp, down the Sun Dance canyon road and back past the cave and basin. There is a possibility a road will be built across the Great Divide into B.C. in the Mount Asiniboine district and cross over to the Windermere road near Radium. A road to Banff from the Windermere road down the Healy creek valley also was to be surveyed.

Recreation will be sent east for consideration and it is unlikely actual work on selected routes will begin for some time, Mr. Jennings said.

More than a century ago, from Scotland came the boy destined to be the first Prime Minister of Canada. Lawyer at twenty-one... at twenty-nine a maker of laws... the full maturity of his genius created a nation—Canada. Statesman and leader... inspired in the cause of unity... chief architect of Confederation—here was a man of vision, a clear-headed Canadian.

Man of vision in the 17th century... founder of historic colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland... Calvert said to his settlers three centuries ago: "Preserve Unity and Peace."

"I see the future... it is a good country," wrote Calvert in the early 1600's. Well may it be that thus he prophesied Canada's bountiful nationhood.

Famous English statesman and pioneer, Secretary of State to King James I, Calvert's ideals of unity have been shared by all men of vision through the centuries since Calvert's time. Today... every Canadian can be a man of vision. Let each by his own efforts "foster and develop the Dominion."

Upon unity of purpose depends the full measure of our stature as a nation. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.

A Sorry Disclosure

The report of the royal commission on espionage has revealed a state of affairs in certain circles in this country which will provoke in most Canadians a dismayed sense of shame.

The two distinguished justices who comprise the commission have done an excellent and thorough piece of work. And yet they themselves admit that they have only been able to touch the fringe of some of the plots against the security of Canada and the peace of the world.

The facts, in brief, disclosed by the commission are these:

1. That several secret Russian espionage organizations were and perhaps are at work in Canada.
2. That the secret information of many of the departments of the Canadian government have been poured into Russia.
3. That the Soviet Comintern, supposed to have been dissolved three years ago, is still active in Moscow.
4. That Russian agents have been active in Canada for as long as 22 years.
5. That the Communist Party in Canada was the chief source of recruits for spy work in this country.
6. That numerous Canadian citizens have been corrupted into a betrayal of their country.

It is this final conclusion that is at once
most painful and most mystifying.

That Russian citizens, living under a strict and demanding dictatorship, should lend themselves to espionage in a foreign country is understandable. Nor can too much blame be attached to the Soviet Union itself. Espionage and counter-espionage are carried out in every country, to a greater or lesser degree, and, while the use of the Russian diplomatic corps for this purpose is untraditional and reprehensible, little more was expected from a country which has isolated itself behind a curtain of suspicion and distrust.

But that Canadians, enjoying every right and privilege under a free democratic system of government, should lend themselves to the betrayal and the potential destruction of their native land is almost beyond belief.

The enormity of their betrayal of Canada is sharpened and emphasized by the contradictory news that comes out of Ottawa with the announcement of the Hon. Brooke Claxton that this country is enjoying a stability and production and employment level that no other nation on earth can boast.

Canada is offering more to Canadians in the way of prosperity and opportunity and security than any other country is offering to its nationals.

And yet there are Canadians sufficiently warped and mean-spirited and vicious to want to pull this benign structure down to the level of a dictatorship whose people labor long hours, where a pair of shoes cost hundreds of dollars and where any claim to personal liberty is answered with sudden death or incarceration in Siberia.

The mental processes of these people are completely beyond the understanding of normal, healthy-minded Canadians. The latter can only regard these sorry disclosures with humiliation and shame.

Edmonton Has Arrived

If any evidence was lacking to show that Edmonton has arrived at metropolitan status, that evidence is now supplied in the local operation of a sight-seeing bus.

During exhibition week and probably thereafter, one of these rubberneck vehicles will take visitors and residents over a 25-mile scenic tour of the city — an eighty-minute ride packed, after the best traditions of rubberneck busses, with thrills and glamor.

This attraction will doubtless commend itself to visitors who will want to get a complete picture of the city during their stay here.

And, if The Edmonton Bulletin is permitted a word of advice to residents, it won't do Edmonton people any harm to make the tour either.

In fact, it will provide a wholesome surprise for many Edmonton folk to get around the town and see just how startlingly and amazingly the place has grown.

Indeed, it is probably more important for Edmonton citizens to see their community than it is for their guests. It will help to build civic pride, which is one of the priceless assets of any city.

The rubberneck wagon should be worked overtime.

Radio Board of Appeals

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters has asked the house of commons radio committee to set up a board of appeals as the final authority in the administration of radio regulations.

It is a reasonable request. In fact it is eminently reasonable that any other arrangement is downright iniquitous.

It is iniquitous, for instance, that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should have the final word on the administration of radio regulations when the CBC is itself

a competitor in the radio field.

It requires something like the justice of Solomon for any individual or group to adjudicate fairly between its own interests and the interests of rival concerns. Certainly no judge would ever think of sitting on a case where the parties were so closely connected. Why, then, should the CBC be put in the position of doing so continually?

This situation is bad enough at the present time. It will become infinitely worse if the present plans of the CBC are carried into effect. For the latter organization plans to erect new high-powered stations which will mean heavy expenditures that can only be met by increased advertising revenue, government subsidies are increased radio licence fees.

All this means that the CBC will be forced into even more active competition with privately-owned radio stations. What chance will those private stations have then when their interests conflict with those of the CBC? What chance will there be to establish a commercial station, even in Edmonton where the need for a third commercial station has been well proved?

Certainly some independent board, other than the CBC, should take a hand in administering the radio rules.

Timorous Monty

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery is to be given a civic reception by the city of Halifax on August 31. He has specifically requested that the functions be limited to men only. Women will be barred from all receptions and from the official luncheon.

Now this is what one might describe as an exceedingly strange thing. Just why does Monty want no women?

It is simply unbelievable that he does not like them. For everybody likes women.
Who could help it?

The only possible alternative is that he is afraid of them.

And that is stranger still.

Fear, of course, sometimes follows a wound. The great fighting elephant is said to be terrified of a mouse. Are we to believe that Field Marshal Montgomery is subject to the same kind of a neurosis?

Are we to conclude that the hero of a dozen vital battlefields is actually frightened of a skink?

Saskatchewan's attorney-general, Hon.
J.W. Corman, says if women would like the right to serve on a jury they can have it.
Gals who are equal for equality don't always know when they're well off.

Did anyone hear about the international squabble over the Kanagan river and the Oswoyco lake on the R.C. — Washington boundary? It doesn't matter now; it's been settled. But the point is that crises and even wars have arisen over such incidents as this in less enlightened lands.

There is word from South Carolina about teaming up the mule and the atom bomb. Those of us who have had experience with that form of animal transport may see in it an experiment the much talked of "antidote".

A cast-off Bren carrier has made its appearance in the role of a truck, marking the dawn of a new problem for the street paving department.

An Ottawa correspondent has a quaint idea of "unanimity". The vote on the new flag, he writes, would have been unanimous had the one member who voted against it stayed away.

The rising cost of living isn't the only thing that hits the white collar man. There's the hot weather.

Road Ahead

BY J. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

Most people believe that civilization has reached its highest peak
— that we know more, are more highly organized, better fed, better housed, and better governed than people have ever been.

It is true that our expectancy of life is longer than our grandfathers'. Medical science keeps people alive who would never have survived the first year of life
a century ago.

The housewife
doesn't have the drudgery her great-grandmother knew.

Young man of today will not have work as long or
as hard as his father did.

Harper Prowse
has been justly praised for his pioneering work in history. We have the atom bomb — and perhaps, the secret of atomic energy. We have can-openers and washing machines, mechanical toys
and airplanes, radio and television.

But there is one heat control in our homes and of fixed buildings, vacuum cleaners in homes and labor-saving machines in our factories and mines.

And yet for all our "progress,"
for all our sophistication and learning, for all our scientific and medical discoveries, we will find, if we take even a brief peek into our history books, that there is little evidence to support our belief in our superiority over peoples of past civilizations.

The pressure of modern life has filled our mental institutions to overflowing. Never has the prospect of peace been so uncertain.
The prospect of war so generally accepted — and feared. The prospect of longer periods of bor-dom, discontent, worry, and unhappiness. Our sophistication has taken away from us the simple comforts of religious faith. As a whole people, we moderns are suspicious, cynical, selfish, envious and unhappy.

We call ourselves Christians,
yet we don't make the slightest attempt to practice Christianity. We praise democracy with our lips and sabotage it by our actions.

We call for increased freedom for ourselves as individuals, and ask that the freedom of others be restricted. We call for increased governmental expenditure and lower taxes in the same breath.

Yet, our plans for Utopia won't come to pass. As long as we have generals wouldn't rate companies with Ghengis Khan. Our engineers would still have trouble building a pyramid and our artists still have the skills of the great masters of the past. Our philosophers have not added much, if anything, to the teachings of Plato, Aristotle, Confucius, or Christ. Our democracy is a poor copy of that practiced by the ancient Greeks. Our assassins lack the imagination of the ancients. Our scientists lack philosophies must envy the Roman debaucheries.

We have reached just about the same point as other civilizations.
We did — just before they started to break up!

SIZE OF LOAVES

Editor, Bulletin: Letter resize of loaves and waste — calls for comment.

From one coming from England and experiencing the food shortage here and knowing that the loaf is waste here the more can be sent to those who need it overseas, one wonders how such a letter could be written. No one is forced to eat bread, even here in the land of plenty. It is wrong to waste food anywhere.

Eating of fresh bread is a habit,
not a necessity and if one is really hungry it does not matter how old the bread is so long as we get it to satisfy the hunger. If one buys bread as one needs it and not as one wants it, there is no waste.

Toast and numerous ways of using stale bread eliminates waste,

SHADE TREES

Editor, Bulletin: Recently one hot, sunny forenoon I walked on 112 street in the block just north of Jasper and for the first time in my life in Edmonton I was on a beautiful tree shaded street. At Jasper I looked across to the block south and the poor miserable half-headless trees gave no shade on the hot pavement.

TREE LOVER

Just what are Edmonton trees for?
They give no shade and we can see no beauty in a tortured tree of 18 feet with trunk large enough for a 60-foot tree.

Taxpayers have to pay for the streets in front of their homes. Surely they should have some say in regard to the size, shape, and beauty of the trees for which they pay.

Public Is Wild in Guesses On Return Refundable Tax

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO. — Many it doesn't matter much, but the fact is that the public shows complete confusion as to when the refundable tax is to be paid back. The one thing about compulsory savings on which there is some degree of unanimity is that it would be a good idea in the meantime, for the government to permit use of the refundable tax as collateral for loans.

On the matter of repayment, however, the Canadian Institute finds widely varying conceptions as to when the money is to be repaid. Only an accurate sample of those Canadians who had some compulsory savings as a result of the 1942 tax provision, was asked:

"When do you think this money (refundable tax) will be paid back to you?"

Answers ranged all the way from "within a year" to "never." In tabular form, the views of Canadian holders of compulsory savings accounts like this: 29 percent of them can't guess when the money will be refunded; 26 percent think it will be repaid within two or three years; 10 percent think "within a year"; 8 percent think it will never be repaid; 6 percent say seven to ten years; 5 percent think five years.

This accounts for 94 percent of those Canadians with compulsory savings. The remaining 6 percent miscellaneous answers, mostly on an "if, as and when" basis, such as "when the government gets ready to give it to us," or "as soon as possible," or "if Canada pays its national debt."

Whether or not the person being interviewed had any compulsory savings, Gallup interviewers asked: "Do you think the government should allow people who have compulsory savings to borrow money, using these savings as a guarantee of repayment?"

To the voters as a whole, this seemed like a good idea to 59 percent, and a poor idea to 36 percent, with 15 percent undecided. To that section of the public which holds compulsory savings coupons, however, it seemed like a good idea to 62 percent. Comparison of the views of "with" and "without" holders of compulsory savings can be seen below:

	Have Compulsory Savings	Have No Compulsory Savings
Good Idea	59	36
Poor Idea	36	62
Undecided	5	2

Heavy Storm Fills Basements in Regina

REGINA. (CP) — Lightning struck twice in Regina Monday night during a heavy electrical rain storm which left flooded basements throughout the city. Houses were scattered on the street lawn of one home by lightning which tore through a roof. A second bolt struck a city transformer but damage was quickly repaired.

Rainfall for the night was 1.57 inches, more than 1 1/2 inches falling within two hours.

Edmonton Artist Is Top Winner

Margaret Chappelle, Edmonton artist, carried off most honors in the art competitions at the Edmonton Exhibition, with other artists from the city close behind as they captured first prizes in other classes. Judging completed, officials said they were well pleased with the calibre of the work submitted and were astonished at the large number of entries from all parts of the province. Furthest entry came from Whitehorse in the Yukon.

Miss Chappelle won four firsts for a portrait in oil, landscape or marine subject in water color, still life in water color or pastel—she took third prize in this, too—and still life in oil. She also won a second and fourth place in two other classes.

Manning Asks Resumption Of Dom.-Prov. Conference

Taking the position that the federal government's budget contains factors that require careful study and review before it can be either accepted or rejected by the Alberta government, a letter sent recently to Hon. J. L. Halsey, federal minister of finance by Premier Ernest Manning calls for a re-convening of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, so that the budget among other important matters, may be studied thoroughly. Text of Mr. Manning's letter follows:

MY COLLEAGUES and I have given careful study to the copy of the Budget Speech which you forwarded to me and in which you outlined the offer that the Government of Canada is making to each of the Provinces with respect to a new Tax Agreement to take the place of the present wartime Tax Agreement.

The magnitude and importance of this matter is such that we are not in a position to indicate either acceptance or rejection of your offer until a number of important points have been clarified. It is reasonable to assume that the Provinces are in a similar position and we would therefore respectfully urge that the Dominion-Provincial Conference be reconvened for the purpose of affording a thorough discussion of the ramifications involved in your proposal to enter into separate agreements with individual Provinces on the basis outlined in your Budget Address.

IT APPEARS to us that only by a frank round table discussion of your Budget proposal can the present confused picture be clarified and the Provinces enabled to ascertain definitely just what their respective positions will be if they do, or do not, enter into an agreement of the nature you propose.

While the factors involved are too numerous to be dealt with by correspondence, there are several outstanding points on which we consider it particularly important to obtain clarification. In outlining your offer to the Provinces you state that the Dominion has been forced to abandon, temporarily at least, its proposals with respect to social services and public investment. Does this mean that during the next five years the Dominion is not prepared to give any assistance to the Provinces in improving old age pensions and providing public health services etc., or does it mean only that the Dominion has abandoned the program set out in its former proposals but is prepared to consider some other arrangement in these fields in its dealings with individual Provinces?

IN THE MATTER of public investment, if the Dominion has abandoned the public works proposals contained in its submission to the Dominion-Provincial Conference, how far does it propose to go in assuming at least a portion of the cost of inter-provincial highways, irrigation projects and other undertakings of a nature which makes them obviously more than purely local provincial responsibilities.

In the matter of unemployment assistance, if the Dominion is abandoning its proposals with respect to unemployed employables, to what extent is it prepared to assume the burden of unemployment assistance which obviously will be much greater than any province could bear out of its own resources if unemployment develops on a large scale within the next five years.

Another factor which we consider pertinent to an intelligent decision in this matter is the Dominion's future intentions in the fields of personal income tax and corporation tax. The financial value of these fields to any province depends very largely on the rate of taxation which the Dominion proposes to maintain in those fields.

UNLESS WE HAVE some indication of the Dominion's intentions in this respect we fail to see how we can appraise the value to the Province of your offer as compared with the Province re-entering those fields of taxation.

There is also the matter of provision for the termination of the proposed new agreement. The present wartime Tax Agreement provides that the Province may terminate the Agreement on the 31st day of March in any year by giving 30 days notice. Are we correct in assuming that this same provision will be embodied in the proposed new Agreement? This, to us, is a very important point in view of the extended terms of the proposed Agreement and the impossibility at this stage of anticipating accurately for five years in advance the value of the fields of revenue which we are asked to give up in exchange for the Dominion's per capita grant.

THESE ARE BUT a few of the more important matters which we feel should be thoroughly discussed at a joint meeting of Dominion officials and representatives of all the provinces. I sincerely hope that you will agree to this procedure which we believe will be in the best interests of all concerned. Meanwhile, I would appreciate any information which you can provide at this stage, on the points which I have mentioned above.

Believe It or Not! by RIPLEY

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix: We who have one and only rule for solving the graduated from mothers into the mother-in-law class must learn to accept the inevitable, and I am not going to sit around hoping that my daughter-in-law will turn me a crumb out of her life. I am going to live my life and let her live hers. I will no more quarrel with her or interfere with her any more than I would with a perfect stranger.

I COULD TELL myself that my son is all that I have and fight for him and break up his marriage, but that is not what I want. I have lost my son, but I have never considered him for my benefit. It is almost as painful being a mother-in-law as a mother and much less rewarding, but I would be more unhappy if my son were unhappy than I am now.

I thought you might like to know how one of us worked it out.

Answer: I am, and I hope that many other mothers-in-law who read your letter will have the wisdom and the courage to follow your example. For, in reality, the good home and plenty of support but I want to be free to run around with married men.

Your Girl Friend.

Answer: Well, dearie, in some states a girl is supposed to be old enough and wise enough to know how to take care of herself, but it really isn't true. At 18 you don't really know any way of supporting yourself, and if you run away from your good, comfortable home, with its plenty of food, clothing, and shelter, you will find that life is a little tramp, with nothing to eat, no pretty clothes and no comfortable, safe place at night to sleep, and about the first thing the police would do would be to arrest you.

My advice to you is to stay in your good home until you are old enough to get over all such childish follies.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl of 14. All my life I have wanted a bicycle as all of the other girls have. My father is anxious to give me one, but my mother won't let me have one because she is afraid

"LIFE'S BIGGER MOMENTS"

"I give, devise, and bequeath"

All right, suppose you were making out your will this very moment. Would your estate—minus taxes, funeral expenses and bills—provide enough to keep your home a going concern? A fellow can't expect his wife to maintain a home and educate his children on a few hundred dollars, his old top hat and favourite shogun. He has to get some bulk to his estate.

Yes, it is one of those moments when most men face facts with a Mt. of a jolt. It's the sort of thing that suggests a quick telephone call for help from the North American Life representative. He's the fellow who can show you how to guarantee an income to your wife if you should die tomorrow... or an income for both of you when you want to quit working.

South Africa Buys Sweden's Timber

CAPETOWN, July 17. — (CP) — Swedish timber is expected to ease the acute shortage of building timber here. Press reports say the agreement with Sweden will allow for the purchase of about $4,000,000 worth of timber and paper during the next year.

IN RETURN SOUTH Africa will send tanning extracts, citrus juice and manganese to Sweden. The department of external affairs says the increased supply of timber is not connected with the recent British-Swedish trade agreement.

Mozambique timber will also be shipped into the Union in accordance with an agreement concluded with Portuguese authorities.

Trade with Italy is likely to take an upswing and it is possible that South Africa will send a trade representative to Rome.

The chief stumbling block to Italian trade is lack of shipping space. But if this is overcome, it is reported that Italy will buy skins, watchwork, copper and coal from the Union.

Plan Development

ADELAIDE, Australia, July 17. — (CP) — A great new development plan for the south-east area of the state of South Australia provides for settlement of 70,000 people within the next few years. A deep sea port at Robe, more than 500 miles from Adelaide, and railway extensions and conversions to cost about $4,000,000 are planned.

I will get hurt. What do you think?

Answer: Certainly not. Your mother is making a great mistake in not letting you have a bicycle. R is an innocent source of amusement and good for a girl's health to ride one. If your mother never lets you do anything that has not some possible element of danger in it, she will have to keep you locked up in a satin-lined box.

$1.55 Guarantee For Wheat Asked

Wheat should be disposed of in accordance with the agreement reached between exporting nations and major importing nations, according to the United Farmers of Alberta.

FAILING THIS, the UFA contends, there should be extended to all those desiring to buy Canadian wheat, a contract extended over a period of years, with a fair price for a reasonably large volume of wheat and assurance that the wheat would go directly to the consuming country and not re-enter the market for sale.

The UFA contends, in a statement issued Wednesday that, based on present price levels and costs of production, the price of wheat for export should be $1.55 a bushel, No. 1 Northern, Fort William, for a period of four years.

ARTER COMPLETION of the contract for four years, it was felt by the UFA that there should be a guarantee of $1.55 a bushel for three more years. Should such a contract be impossible to negotiate then it was urged that the price of wheat should not be less than $1.85 for the next year, with a floor price of $1.25 for the next five years.

Edmonton's position as the strategic crossroads of the world was sharply emphasized within the last six weeks when a Superfortress B-29 made a flight from the city airport to the north geographic pole and back.

DETAILS OF THE flight were not released by USAF headquarters here but Washington has reported the flight from Edmonton to the pole and return in an American release.

The B-29 was one of the three long monitoring aircraft that have been based in Edmonton for some time.

THE FLIGHT was made by a way of Fairbanks, Alaska where a stop was made for refueling. The huge plane then proceeded on to the pole and returned to Fairbanks, a distance of more than 4,500 miles in a non-stop operation.

The flight is the first in history originating on Canadian soil. More than a year ago a British RAF Lancaster flew through Edmonton on a flight over the north magnetic pole and back to Britain.

RECENT FLIGHT of the B-29 was made for the purpose of testing new scientific instruments, in particular, and for gathering data about weather conditions in the polar area.

A crew of 12 made the flight in perfect comfort in the big pressurized super bomber. It is understood that the non-stop flight from Fairbanks over the pole was made in approximately 23 hours.

CREW MEMBERS reported the plane soared through the polar skies in magnificent fashion.

High weather fronts were the only worry as the flat terrain of the polar ice cap has no high peaks.

The flight was made at high altitude, about 30,000 feet.

Comb Bushland For Lost Flier
A three-man ground search party continued to comb the wild bushland about 150 miles north of Fort Nelson today in an effort to locate Joe Barber, Jamestown, N.Y., civilian pilot, missing for more than two weeks after making a forced landing on a creek bed.

A LIGHT PLANE carrying supplies to the searchers was landed on an emergency strip hacked out of the bush near Barber's ground plane. Hopes for the safety of the flier are fading rapidly, particularly as the search party discovered a considerable quantity of emergency rations and maps of the area in the lost man's aircraft.

How to Make Money In One "Easy" Lesson

Fortunes have been amassed through shrewd and careful retelling of shoe strings and pencils, and with corresponding shrewdness and sagacity personal millions have been pyramided through agenting for battleships. The stories about them are legion, but it will come as a pleasant surprise for most persons to realize that getting rich is not just a matter of good luck, "pull" or special knack.

OBSERVED RECENTLY when he was looking over a host of books featured in the Jasper Avenue window of a book store, a studious looking gentleman wearing among other things, thick glasses, exhibited a thoughtful interest in the title of a book which was surrounded by volumes purporting to have the low-down on such things as depressions, wars, economics and income taxes.

Entering the shop, he took the book down and read a few paragraphs. "How much is this book?" inquired the man with thick glasses. "Fifty cents, sir," The proprietor responded. "I'll take it," decided the studious-looking gent, producing the necessary four bits in small coins from the depths of an old-fashioned clasp top purse.

Later in the day the same gentleman was seen waving excitedly from the bleachers as a group of race horses rounded the bend near the finishing tape.

AND THE WHOLE UPSHOT of this story is that the title of the book which claimed the professional-looking man's deep interest was "The Principles of Quick Money Making."

Two Girls Hurt On Ride at Fair

The first accident to take place on one of the mid-way rides at this year's exhibition occurred about 5:15 p.m. Tuesday when Dorothy Webb, 1947 101st Street, 19 years old, and Anne Donnelly, 20, of the same address, were injured as a result of a breakdown of the "Octopus," a Royal American Shows ride.

MISS WEBB was rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital in a Jack Hay's ambulance where it was reported she was suffering from cuts about the face and abrasions to her head. Miss Donnelly, who suffered concussion of the brain, received initial treatment in the St. John's Ambulance tent at the fair grounds and was later taken to the hospital.

IN A STATEMENT to police the operator of the ride said that the arm of the ride broke off about six feet from the base and fell to the ground. The two girls were passengers in a tub that twirled on end of the arm as it moved around in a circle. The operator further stated that the tub was hit by another tub which was following and was pushed for about 12 feet along the ground. It is understood that as the arms rotate and then up in the air again.

The operator told police that the tub in which the girls were riding was about six feet from the ground when it fell. The arms on the "Octopus" extend 30 feet, weigh 600 pounds, are built with two steel rails and reinforced. The ride is controlled by a clutch and break located outside the fence which surrounds the ride.

ACCORDING TO THE police report, one side of the arm showed evidence of a new break, while the other side appeared to have been broken before. Robert Taylor of the Royal American Shows, told police that the ride was covered by accident insurance. The ride was immediately closed by city police.

The injured girls were attended by Dr. Craig. Miss Donnelly's home is in Penhold and at present she is in the city to attend summer school.

Mass Paratroop Jump Will be Staged Here

Edmontonians will witness at first hand one of the most dramatic features of modern war, a mass descent of paratroops, when Northwest Air Command RCAF stages a two-day air display program here on July 26-27.

THE AIR SHOW will be the most elaborate yet staged in Edmonton and the program will be highlighted by additional thrilling features, such as aerobatics by the most modern types of fighting aircraft and a demonstration by Northwest Air Command parachute division.

Speed demonstration by the famed Gloster Meteor jet-driven plane, the latest model of the world-famed Spitfire fighters the deadly Mosquito bomber and other modern aircraft will be carried out.

THE GIANT LANCASTER Lincoln, the Halifax and other types of British heavy bombers will fly and be on display for those attending the show.

There will be no admission charge and all proceeds from the sale of souvenir programs and refreshments will go to the RCAF Benevolent Fund.

Providing the weather is good, RCAF officials estimate that at least 30,000 Edmonton people will witness the display.

IN ADDITION TO THE aerial or flying display, citizens will have an opportunity to inspect many of the aircraft that made history in the recent battle over Europe, a view of the cockpit of the great Lancaster Lincoln being a special feature.

Highly-trained Canadian Army paratroopers from Camp Shilo, Manitoba, directed by officers who jumped at Arnhem and the Rhine Crossing, will participate in the paratroop display.

ACTUAL CONDITIONS of battle will be enacted with the airborne troops leaping behind a Mitchell smoke screen to "seize strategic high grounds."

The jumps will be made from RCAF Dakotas that operated in the battle zones of Europe.

Giders, carrying jeeps and other equipment will participate in the "attack."

In addition to the flying display there will be interesting exhibits showing the ground working of the Northwest Air Command with the vast telegraph and telephone communication system stretching from Edmonton to Alaska explained to visitors.

IN FACT EVERY ground unit will have a separate display. Another feature will be an altitude guessing competition, with spectators submitting estimates of the altitude of several aircraft.

Prizes will take the form of free rides in planes.

Edmonton Model Aero club will stage a display of home-built aircraft, to include a gas-driven model, TCA, CP Air Lines, Associated Airways, Edmonton and Northern Alberta Aero Club, McDonald Airways and Northwest Industries will also have exhibits.

THE NATIONAL RESEARCH Council Experimental Flying Wing, created in recent months at Northwest Air Command, will be on public display for the first time.

Another feature, certain to prove of interest, will be the exhibiting of a radar screen.

It is planned to open the show on Friday, July 26 at 1:30 p.m. and continue until 9 p.m. on Saturday the show will start at 10 a.m. and continue until 9 p.m. A dance in the drill hall will be held after the show each evening.

WING CMDR. A. L. COCKING, DFC and Bar, will be in charge of the aerial exhibits with Wing Cmdr. Howard L. Watson, MBE, in charge of ground exhibits.

Wing Cmdr. M. P. Martin is chairman of the air show committee.

Handicrafts at Exhibition Symbolize Road to Recovery for Ponoka Patients

By Jane Hecker

Some of the most beautiful handicrafts on display at the Exhibition this week comes from an unexpected quarter: the Ponoka mental hospital.

On the ground floor of the women's pavilion at the fair grounds is a display of infinitely varied handicrafts, fashioned into useful shelves, tables, desks, magazine racks, jewelry embroidery—very fine and pretty; petit point carved toys, woven rugs, bird houses and hundreds of other beautiful and useful articles.

The story behind the work is even more interesting than the display. It was all done by patients in the Ponoka hospital as the kindly attendant, Miss Jean Bier, will tell you. Under the supervision of Miss Gladys Cryer, and Miss Bier, two trained occupational therapists at the hospital, patients start the work usually of some very simple variety, as soon as possible after being admitted. Then gradually, as their illness wanes, the work becomes more concentrated.

Right from the beginning of the therapeutic treatment, according to Miss Bier, a patient's self-assurance is being built up, as he discovers he is able to do something. The work takes his mind off his illness, and therefore speeds, and sometimes is largely responsible for his recovery.

Most of the patients in the hospital progress that is, they are not mentally defective, but usually highly intelligent people who have had a mental breakdown or are perhaps unbalanced in their ideas. One piece of work is used as an example of the progress made by one patient. An article which started to be a toilet paper holder became confused as the patient's mental states changed, is displayed beside a beautiful and intricate piece of embroidery—work from the same patient three months later.

The most singular piece of work shown is a large model of a covered wagon and horses, done by an Indian patient. Every detail is there—even to the intricate horse harness, and Indian driver.

The wagon is colorfully painted, but with the horses the Indian would stand no make-believe—real horsehair had to be sent for before he would call the work completed.

Miss Bier describes her work in the hospital as most fascinating and satisfying. She says the patients are encouraged to make useful articles, which can either be used in the hospital or sold at a bazaar. Sometimes, as in weaving a large rug, a group of patients work on one piece, but mostly the work is individual.

Other patients are harder to start working, Miss Bier explained, because they are more timid and set in their ways than younger people. But the treatment is amazingly successful. Often patients whose hands have to be moved to get them started are working efficiently, and with initiative, before many weeks have passed.

An interesting sidelight of the exhibition was the work of the Red Cross training school, where the patients are mentally undeveloped in many instances. A patient who has a mental age of 10 has worked a beautiful lace counterpane; another whose I.Q. is 45, has done some expert cross-stitch, and there is a myriad of richly-hued embroidery; all made into useful and lovely articles: tray cloths, runners and guest towels, to name a few.

Social Activities in Edmonton

First Mrs. Ruth Thompson, who arrived in Canada recently on the Letitia, is in Edmonton on pre-arranged leave from her home in Calgary. Mrs. W. E. Thompson of the latter city and her sister, Mrs. J. A. Thompson, who arrived a year and a half on the hospital ship Lady Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miles and their daughters, Beverly and Patricia, left Sunday morning by car for Vancouver en route to their home in Los Angeles. They will be the guests in Edmonton for the past 10 days of Mr. Miles' sister-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Medley, of Victoria, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. McDonald of 8239 77 ave. They will be here two weeks.

Mrs. W. W. Harcourt entertained Saturday evening at her home at a reception in honor of her brother, Edward C. Harcourt and his bride, the former Miss Catherine Munroe, when guests were the immediate families and relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Australian Girl Draws Operations

CANBERRA, (CP)—Pioneer in a new phase of medical illustration, Flight Officer Coral Aldritt, W.A.A.F., is assisting the development of plastic surgery in Australia by making sketches during the performance of operations.

She has had to evolve a technique for lightning, accurate sketches—nine or 10 to each operation—which record every vital movement of the surgeon's knife. Sketches are said to be better than photography because blood and other matter interfere with clarity in photographs.

Part of Flight Officer Aldritt's work involves building up of plaster casts of disfigured faces with plasticine to give the surgeon a guide in his work. After discharge from the W.A.A.F., she hopes to take a course in medical illustration at the Johns Hopkins Medical University in Baltimore, U.S.A.
